

HARVIE'S BULLETIN

A PROJECT OF THE HARVIE FAMILY ASSOCIATION OF HANTS COUNTY 1986

Almost two years have passed since publication of "THE HARVIE/HARVEY FAMILY OF HANTS COUNTY NOVA SCOTIA" and more than three hundred copies have been sold in Canada and the United States. There are a few copies still available so if you ever want one of your own or need another copy for someone in the family, I suggest you order soon. Christmas is coming and the book makes a very popular gift.

One measure of success has been the number of interesting letters received from readers. The letters have helped to fill in some of the blanks and have also raised a few questions. The question asked most often has been, "Why were the families of the daughters not followed?" First, I did not want to copy the work of other family researchers either published or in progress. In most cases the place and date of marriage, the husband's birthdate, birthplace, parent's names and place of residence are given as an aid to making a connection. Second, work on the missing branches of our own family takes priority over tracing different surnames.

Harvie's Bulletin was designed to be a forum for sharing new information on the family and to keep everyone involved in the continuing work of the association. Your letters and comments are welcome and encouraged for future issues. A giant family reunion has been suggested as one project in the next couple of years.

Before long I know you will be sending cards to relatives who may not be on the Bulletin mailing list. If you would like them to receive a copy of this issue, just send the addresses.

Finally, please accept my best wishes over the holiday season.

A LETTER FROM AUSTRALIA

(The following letter was written by 34A1-Walter Harvie to his sister Caroline sometime about 1924 when he was in his eighties)

I received your very welcome letter and the photos all right, glad to see you and Danielena looking so well and Ellen must have been a grand looking woman. As near as I can remember, she resembled her Mother. You say that the last time you remember seeing me, you was playing in the Lane and I got over the fence out of the orchard and kissed you and said goodbye and told you I was going away. I must have been going to Grandfather Burtons, about 6 miles out from Windsor. I was with him there for some years, there was three Uncles. They were working a large farm on lease. Jane was with me there, When their lease expired they went to live on their own property at St. Croix, except William who had a property about 100 miles away joining his brother Walters property. I was with him about two years, then I came back to Avondale. Uncle Jim Harvie and Weston were in possession of our father's farm. I then went on a trip to sea with a cousin Capt. William P. Harvie who was part owner of a large schooner named the Avondale, to the West Indies and called at different parts getting away from the ice. We were away about 5 months on the trip. When I came back I stopped for a while with Weston and with a cousin Mrs. Jenny Mills. Now Major Mills came home while I was stopping there. He had been first mate in one of Mosher's ships named the 'Ava' which had been wrecked on the coast of South America on a barren island and after being there for some time were taken off by a passing ship. They were given up for lost. Mills got another vessel and I went to Boston with him. You must remember Willie Dunbar second cousin who was living with his Aunt Mrs. Mills, we were good chums. He went to sea after this and got on well. The last I heard he was Capt. of a big ship out of England.

I am going to tell you that I remember a lot about our old home. You say your Mother was not satisfied with the settlement of our Father's property. Well I never did know much about it. Our father died intestate. He was badly hurt in a Gypsum quarry in which he had an interest and did not live long after. I can remember the occasion quite well, I think I was about 8 years old at the time. I never knew that Uncle Jim Harvie had any claim on our father's estate, but I know that he was one of the trustees appointed by the court to look after our interests, and he gave me money at different times when I wanted it. Now the business could not be settled until Danielena came of age. Now about that time I had a power of attorney sent out here for me to sign and appoint someone to act for me. I sent it to Alexander Burton an Uncle who was to collect any money coming to me and hand it over to our sister Jane, who was married to Joshua Terfry, storekeeper at St. Croix, and that is the last I heard of it. I had letters from her since but she never mentioned getting anything. Now I am going to tell you that I remember a lot about the old place. Now the Moshers and Harvies owned nearly all the town of Avondale and the country for miles out. The Moshers had two large ship building yards and there was always large ships being built there. The main road from the port went over a hill about 1/2 a mile to the top, on the left going up two of the Moshers had good buildings, Capt. William P. Harvie came next with a fine house. On the other side, John Allison kept a general store, further up near the top was Major Mills place. From the top of the hill going down Uncle James Harvies farm, on the left at bottom of the hill was Uncle Elkanah's Tannery and Boot making shop. About 1/2 mile further out was the lane leading up to our house. A big square two storied house about a 1/4 mile from the main road, the lane was lined with Poplar trees. On the left was a very large barn with an apple orchard behind it, at the back was a garden, on the right was a large orchard containing apples, plums cherries pears. About 1/2 mile further on was Uncle John Weirs farm, she was one of our Aunts, then there was another uncle that I did not know, but I got word that two of his sons our cousins were studying for Doctors in Canada, and one was a Head Teacher in a High School in one of the States. His name was Basil Harvie. Another Uncle John Harvie had a plantation and slaves in one of the Southern States, when the Civil War broke out of course he would lose the niggers. I have never heard what became of him. Uncle John Weir had three sons William, Andrew and John and three daughters one married John Crossly who had his hand damaged in a thrashing machine. One married a Mosher and the youngest married a son of Major Mills, he was Capt. of a Steamer on the coast here for a couple of years, with his wife and two daughters, but I never met them. I was about 300 miles up the country and I left it too long and they got away without meeting them. I got word that Capt. Mills died soon after he got back.

You should remember Uncle Elkanah who had a family of three boys and one girl. John who had a responsible position in Moshers yards and one of the Mosher girls and George and Ira who worked with their father in the Tanning and Boot making business and the girl whose name was Celestia, She married John Jeffries, whose father was Governor of Nova Scotia. I never heard how they got along. Uncle Jim only had one son Weston. He was about 10 years older than me, but I never liked him. I got word that he joined the Northern army during the Civil War, that he was promoted to be an officer of some distinction. He got home all right and soon after a rebellion broke out in Western Canada and an army was sent out to put it down. A regiment was sent from Nova Scotia and Weston was in charge with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. The trouble was soon settled but the troops were kept out there for a couple of years to straighten thing up. Now the only Aunts that I can remember, sisters of our father, were Aunt Eliza, Mrs. John Weir and Aunt Experience Cochran. She had two daughters Mrs. Major Mills and Mrs Dunbar, and the two sons living in Boston. I think that ou father's estate was the finest situated that ever I saw. It was very large in acreage and the view from the house was grand. You could look across the flats for about 8 miles across one branch of the river to the town of Windsor, and the old log fort on the hill built by the French, as a protection from the Indians. All our land was in the first place a grant from the English Government to our great grandfather who sided with the British at the revolution. He built the old house and our Grandfather built some additons and divided the land into farms and some small portions, it had belonged to the French who had been removed. Part of the land had been cleared and old orchards were growing on it when I was a boy. Grandfather Harvie, you remember him, was alive when I left home. He used to tell me of things that occured when he was young. I remember Weston's first wife, she was a daughter of Capt. Smith who owned a vessel running regular between Windsor and Boston, in the winter he would go further south getting away from the ice. They had no family and she was always willing. After she died he got married again and had one son. He seemed a fine youngster. He was about 15. My youngest girl used to correspond with him. He is about 24 now and she is the same age, but she is now married and has three of a family, all girls. The last time I saw you girls, you were living on the lower road going around to the old School House about 1/4 mile from the Port. I noticed that you were very nicely dressed. Now you know that the Mosher's owned besides the ship building yards most of the property in and near the town, Nicholas Mosher was a member of parliament. Two of our cousins were married to Mosher girls. Do you remember a girl by the name of Joanna Mosher, just my age, well it was made up between the two families that we were to marry when we got old enough, but it never came off. She was a fine looking girl. I went to Boston soon after.

I think your climate is similar to ours only upside down, You are leaving the winter. I don't consider that we have any winter. A few light frosts although 100 miles west they have both ice and snow. Everything suitable to a warm climate grows here to perfection. It is pretty hot here at times, but we get the breeze off the sea nearly every day. I read a lot about Los Angeles in the papers, it seems to be a great city for sport, not only the moving pictures but prize fighting, horse racing and everything in the name of sport. Now as far as sporting goes, you can't give the Aussies a back number. Now tell me something about Ellen. I got word from somewhere that she went East for a trip and was a fine looking woman, and I don't know whether she married or not and Danielena, I have heard very little about her, but I will expect a letter from her. Now I suppose you remember a lot of what I have been writing about, but it interests me to remember old times, people and places that were familiar when we were young.

CALIFORNIA BRANCH FOUND

About a year ago I discovered a copy of a book called "Family Ingredients" at the Library of Congress in Washington. It was put together by Richard E. Harvie of Palo Alto California tracing his own family and origins including many photographs, family group records and memorabilia in a handsome cloth covered volume. Richard is a grandson of 3471-George Cyrus Harvie and we have since been in contact sharing information back and forth. A sample is given here.

Coincidentally, George Harvie was mentioned in the letter from Australia printed in this issue, a son of Elkanah Harvie the shoemaker.

WARNING

Many people have received deceptive advertisements from Halbert's Inc. of Bath Ohio in the United States and from Halbert's of Toronto Ontario in Canada. The product offered for sale is described in glowing terms and unless you read carefully it could be mistaken for a genealogy of our family. It gives some general information about the origin of names and then lists all the people with your last name taken from telephone books across the country.

In December 1985 the Canadian distributor was fined $9000 for misleading advertising under the Combines Investigation Act in an Ontario Provincial Court. The conviction does not appear to have stopped the fictitious Sharon Taylor. Similar advertisements have been received again this year. Complaints should be referred in Nova Scotia to the Marketing Practices Branch, Consumer and Corporate Affairs Canada, Suite 1 Windmill Place, 1000 Windmill Road, Dartmouth N.S. B3B 1L7.

LEWIS HARVIE (1832-1921) PLACED

A single headstone in Elmsdale, the 1881 Census for Wolfville, a visitor from Massachussettes and letters from Maurice Hennigar and Florence Sanford have placed Lewis Harvie and his family in the book. The patience, luck and detective work involved in producing a genealogy are perfectly illustrated by this case.
